Parents, Do You Wish You Knew More About the Movies Your Kids Want to Watch?

"But everyone else has seen it," you may hear your kids say. Yet ratings and previews don't always give us the content of a film and whether it reflects our family's values.

We at HOPAC encourage parents to take advantage of two great websites which help to make informed media choices for their kids: PluggedIn (which also has a Christian perspective) and Common Sense Media.

For example, here are some current movies your kids may be asking to see.

Avengers Infinity War

Sherlock Gnomes

We encourage you to read these reviews to help you make an informed decision about what to let your children watch.
